

Admissions Procedure

Section 1 - Purpose

(1) This procedure supports the Admissions Policy by stating detailed requirements for admission processes.

Scope

(2) This procedure applies to the admission of all students to programs, courses, and non-award study offered by Charles Sturt University (the University) and its partner institutions. Its requirements apply to all staff across the University, as well as external staff who represent the University through partnerships and third party arrangements including educational agents, and partner education providers.

Section 2 - Policy

(3) This procedure supports the Admissions Policy and should be read alongside that policy.

Section 3 - Procedure

Admissions entry requirements

(4) To be eligible for admission, applicants must meet the following entry requirements:

- a. the minimum age requirements stated in the Admissions Policy and outlined below,
- b. the academic and/or professional entry requirements stated for the type of course in the Admissions - Entry Requirements \(Coursework\) Procedure or Admissions - Entry Requirements \(Higher Degrees by Research\) Procedure as relevant,
- c. the English proficiency requirements for the type of course in the Admissions - Entry Requirements \(Coursework\) Procedure or Admissions - Entry Requirements \(Higher Degrees by Research\) Procedure as relevant, and
- d. any higher and/or additional entry requirements for the specific course, as published within the online course brochure.

Applicants aged under 18 years

(5) International applicants intending to study in Australia on a student visa must be at least 18 years old at the time of accepting their offer of admission.

(6) Any other applicants who will be aged under 18 at their intended study start date must declare that they have the consent of their parent or guardian when accepting their offer of admission. Those aged under 17 years will be required to provide written consent from their parent or guardian as a condition of their enrolment, using the form that will be provided to them by the relevant Admissions Office. If this form is not completed and returned to the University by the specified deadline, their enrolment will be cancelled.

(7) Applicants aged under 17 years must have their chosen study approved by the relevant Head of School before an offer can be made by the relevant Admissions Office, and will only be considered for admission in the following circumstances:

- a. they are not an international applicant intending to study in Australia on a student visa,
- b. the relevant Head of School is satisfied that the applicant's welfare and safety will be ensured,
- c. the relevant course is to be delivered online or the student is enrolling in approved single subject study,
- d. the faculty permits the enrolment of under-aged students in the relevant course and/or subjects, and
- e. the applicant will provide written consent from their parent or guardian as a condition of their enrolment with the University.

(8) Where an under-aged applicant accepts an offer of admission, the Admissions Office will inform the Division of Student Success (DSS) and the Division of Security, Safety and Wellbeing (DSSW), who will coordinate the welfare and safety arrangements, in consultation with the relevant Course Director.

Acceptable English language proficiency tests and providers

(9) Applicants can find specific information about meeting the University's English language proficiency requirements using the online list of accepted evidence approved for publication by the International and Partnerships Committee (IPC), including:

- a. the list of countries considered English speaking for assessment of applicants' English proficiency, and
- b. the list of English language proficiency tests and providers that are acceptable for meeting English language proficiency requirements for admission.

(10) Applicants who do not meet these published requirements may submit a written request for a waiver with evidence explaining how they have achieved the equivalence of these English language proficiency requirements for admission. These requests will be reviewed and decided by the relevant authority below:

- a. the Executive Dean of the teaching faculty for coursework applicants, or
- b. the Pro Vice-Chancellor (Research and Innovation) for HDR applicants.

(11) Proposals to update the online list of acceptable English language proficiency tests or providers must be reviewed and approved by the IPC.

(12) The relevant Admissions Office will assess these proposals and recommend a decision to the IPC.

International/overseas applicants

International education agents

(13) Applicants for study on an Australian student visa may apply via an international education agent contracted with the University, who may submit a direct admission application on the applicant's behalf. In these cases, the application must include evidence that the applicant has authorised the agent to act on their behalf. The International Education Agent Policy states the University's requirements for international education agents.

Genuine Temporary Entrant (GTE) process

(14) The genuine temporary entrant (GTE) process applies to all student visa applicants and is required by the Australian Government to ensure the student visa program is used as intended and not as a way to maintain ongoing residency in Australia.

(15) The GTE assessment process requires all international students applying for study within Australia on a student visa to demonstrate that they are coming to Australia temporarily to gain education and will return overseas once complete.

(16) Students will be sent a GTE information form to complete as part of their admissions process after they have submitted their application for admission.

International students who are transferring from another provider

(17) Where an international applicant for study in Australia on a student visa is currently within the first six months of enrolment in their principal course with another education provider, they must provide a letter of release from the other provider before Charles Sturt University can issue them with a confirmation of enrolment (COE) to transfer to this University. See the International Students Provider Transfer Procedure for more information.

Refund of international applicants' fees

(18) The International Student Fee Refund Procedure states the circumstances under which the University will provide a full or partial refund of tuition fees to international applicants who are unable to commence or continue their course.

(19) The Tuition Protection Service (TPS) also provides assistance to international students where the University is unable to fully deliver their course of study.

(20) The Enrolment and Fees Policy provides information on refunds of tuition fees for other types of applicants and for international students in exceptional circumstances.

Applications for admission

(21) Applicants can apply for admission to the University by one of the following methods, as instructed for their specific course on the online course brochure:

- a. through the University Admission Centre (UAC),
- b. through the Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre (VTAC), or
- c. directly, as described below.

Direct admission

(22) To have their application considered, prospective students applying for admission directly to the University or with one of its partner providers must:

- a. complete the relevant admission application form, following all instructions on the form,
- b. attach any supporting documents that are required,
- c. confirm they have read and agree to the terms and conditions, as specified by Charles Sturt University,
- d. declare that their application is, to their knowledge, correct and complete, and that they meet the conditions of study, and
- e. submit their application by the relevant application deadline published on the study web page.

(23) The relevant Admissions Office maintains the publication of these online forms, application closing dates, and submission instructions and details on the study web page.

(24) Applications for higher degree by research (HDR) courses can be made at any time: there are no specific deadlines for these.

Offers of admission

(25) The Executive Director, Students will ensure that all offers of admission for domestic applicants are made in writing and contain all information that:

- a. the applicant needs to understand the offer, including course details, conditions that must be met, credit outcomes, specific enrolment requirements, key dates, and information about tuition fees, payments, refunds, and other costs of study, and
- b. is required under the Higher Education Standards Framework \(HESF\), the Higher Education Support Act \(HESA\) and other relevant legislation.

(26) Under the delegation of the Chief Development Officer, Global, the Office of Global Engagement will ensure that all offers of admission to international/overseas applicants for study in Australia on a student visa are made in writing and contain the required information for such written agreements under the Education Services for Overseas Students Act \(ESOS Act\) and the National Code of Practice for Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students, including:

- a. an outline of the course or courses in which the student is to be enrolled, and all required course, award, and qualification information, including CRICOS registration details, expected course start date and duration, the location(s) at which the course will be delivered, and the offered modes of study for the course, plus any compulsory online or work-based training or research arrangements,
- b. details about any credit that has been applied,
- c. any conditions imposed on the student's enrolment and any necessary prerequisite requirements that must be met to enter the course, including English language requirements,
- d. the tuition fees payable by the student for the course and any non-tuition fees the student may incur and the circumstances in which additional fees may apply, as well as information about refunds processes and the role of the Tuition Protection Service \(TPS\),
- e. requirements for maintaining up-to-date contact details as specified in the Enrolment and Fees Policy,
- f. the circumstances in which personal information about the student may be disclosed by the registered provider, the Commonwealth including the Tuition Protection Service, or state or territory agencies, in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988,
- g. an outline of internal and external complaints and appeals processes,
- h. a statement that "This written agreement, and the right to make complaints and seek appeals of decisions and action under various processes, does not affect the rights of the student to take action under the Australian Consumer Law if the Australian Consumer Law applies", and
- i. that the student is responsible for keeping a copy of the written agreement as supplied by the registered provider, and receipts of any payments of tuition fees or non-tuition fees.

Deferred admission

(27) Domestic applicants who are made an offer of admission may be eligible to apply for deferment, in courses where this is available, if they do so before the first census date in their course. The following exceptions apply:

- a. the relevant Executive Dean or delegate has decided the course will not allow deferment,
- b. the course will not be available in the later intake, or
- c. the course admission requirements will have changed by the later intake, and the applicant will no longer be eligible.

(28) Applicants can defer an offer of a place in one course for up to 12 months. If an applicant's request to defer an offer to a later teaching period is approved, they cannot apply to defer the offer for a second time.

(29) The Executive Director, Students or delegate approves all domestic applications for deferment, except those for higher degree by research programs, which are approved by the Executive Dean on the advice of the principal supervisor and Sub Dean (Graduate Studies).

(30) Where the course does not permit deferment, commencing students who want to start the course later must reapply for admission in that intake.

(31) International applicants who wish to study in Australia on a student visa cannot defer their offer, but may request that the University cancel their original offer and apply for a new offer of admission to be made in its place with a new start date, subject to faculty requirements and the eligibility of a place in their chosen course being available as part of a later intake.

Accepting offers of admission

(32) To complete acceptance of an offer, the applicant must:

- a. accept the offer and its terms online or sign and return the offer,
- b. agree to meet any conditions of the offer before the first subject census date of their enrolment,
- c. provide the University with their unique student identifier (USI) before their first census date (if they are a domestic student or an overseas/international student who will be studying within Australia), and
- d. pay or arrange deferment of their fees by the deadline provided on their offer letter or invoice/fee statement for their first teaching period.

(33) Students should refer to the Enrolment and Fees Policy and Enrolment and Fees Procedure for details about paying and/or deferring tuition fees to a HELP loan, and for information about providing their USI to the University.

(34) Offers of places in coursework courses will be issued with a default acceptance deadline of:

- a. 14 calendar days from the date the offer is issued,
- b. by the first day of the relevant teaching period (if less than 14 calendar days after the offer was issued), or
- c. two calendar days from the date the offer is issued (in exceptional circumstances where the offer was issued during the first week of the teaching period in which the study will begin).

(35) Where, however, courses have enrolment limits or competitive entry requirements, the deadline may be:

- a. seven calendar days, or
- b. the first day of the relevant teaching period if less than seven calendar days remain.

(36) Offers of places in higher degree by research (HDR) courses will have a default acceptance deadline of the census date of the relevant teaching period.

(37) Applicants must accept their offer of admission (and promptly follow its instructions) by the relevant deadline, otherwise, the University may lapse (cancel) the offer.

(38) The Executive Director, Students and Chief Development Officer, Global as relevant will ensure that the offer acceptance process:

- a. requires applicants to accept all conditions of study at the University, and
- b. satisfies all relevant legislative requirements.

Internet access requirements

(39) To be eligible for admission, applicants must have access to an internet-connected computer capable of communicating with the University's online systems.

(40) Courses or subjects required for a course may require a higher minimum level of computer access, and the relevant online course brochure on the University's website will state such requirements.

Applicants who live outside Australia

(41) Applicants for admission who intend to complete all or part of a course while living outside Australia must declare that they can meet all of their course conditions and requirements, including attending any intensive schools and practical placements for workplace learning.

(42) The University may decline to admit such applicants (regardless of any declaration) if it believes it cannot adequately teach or assess the applicant at their intended overseas location.

(43) Applicants are not required to make a declaration if they are admitted to courses delivered by the University:

- a. at an overseas location, or
- b. by online learning through an affiliated overseas institution.

(44) The University may require students to meet any extra costs caused by their living outside of Australia.

Withdrawal of offers made in error

(45) Where an offer of admission has been made in error, the Executive Director, Students may rescind that offer on behalf of the University so that this error can be resolved. Depending on the factors involved, a new offer of admission may be made to the applicant where the specific error relates to administrative data contained in the offer, such as admission codes, rate codes and other such details.

(46) However, where an offer has been made in error and cannot be resolved with a new offer of admission for reasons such as those listed below, then a new offer may not be available to be made in its place. Examples include where:

- a. the applicant does not meet the entry requirements, or
- b. the course quota was filled before the offer was made.

Grounds by which a student's enrolment may be cancelled

(47) The University may cancel a student's enrolment for reasons such as:

- a. the student breaches any clause outlined in any application or acceptance declaration (see heading 'Accepting offers of admission' in this procedure)
- b. the student fails to meet an offer condition prior to the course commencement date (see Admissions Policy heading 'Conditional offers')
- c. the student fails to pay any debt owing by the due date (see Enrolment and Fees Policy heading 'Non-payment of fees')
- d. the student fails to meet the HEP Guidelines of a "genuine student" (see Enrolment and Fees Procedure heading 'Genuine student requirements (CSP & HELP eligibility)')
- e. the course which the student was admitted into has too few students for the course to be viable (see Admissions Policy heading 'Intake quotas and course viability').

Articulated sets of courses

(48) An articulated set of courses is a sequence of courses which are nested, meaning that all subjects (core or elective) comprising earlier courses in the articulated set are included in each successive course, which means that earlier courses within the set comprise the first component of the next course in the set.

(49) Where an articulated set of courses has a single entry point, applicants may only be admitted to the last or highest course in the sequence, and must therefore meet the entry requirements for that course's level of study. Students may, however, apply to exit with a lower award in the sequence if they complete enough subjects to meet the requirements to graduate with a lower award. See the Conferral and Graduation Policy for more information.

Admission to articulated sets with multiple entry points

(50) Where an articulated set of courses has multiple entry points (that is where admission is available for lower courses within the set as well as higher courses):

- a. applicants may apply for admission to any course in the set for which they meet the entry requirements, and
- b. as they complete each course in the sequence, they must apply for admission to each next course of the articulated set by the same process as other applicants, unless they were made a nested set of offers which includes an offer of admission to the next course(s) within the articulated set (see below).

(51) Alternatively, applicants may be made a package of multiple nested offers of admission to two or more courses in an articulated set with multiple entry points. These offers of admission to the higher courses in the set will be conditional on the student completing the requirements of the lower awards in the set.

(52) Successful applicants will be issued with an offer letter in writing which will specify whether they have been made a single offer of admission to one course, or a nested set of conditional offers to multiple courses within an articulated set.

Current students applying for honours strand

(53) Current students seeking admission to the honours strand of a four-year integrated bachelor (honours) course may be required to do so by applying for course transfer, as advised by their faculty.

(54) Eligibility is based on academic performance, and the relevant faculty decides whether students apply for honours in the second or third year of the bachelor course (based on full-time study, or the part-time equivalent).

Admission to concurrent study

(55) Current students may apply for concurrent study by submitting a direct application for admission into a second course or single subject(s), and indicating that they want to continue their current enrolment in the relevant section of the application form. However, concurrent study approval cannot be granted for enrolment in more than two courses (or one course and one set of single subjects) at the same time.

(56) When applying for concurrent study, students must meet the same entry requirements for their second course or single subject(s) as any other applicant applying for admission into that course or subject.

(57) Where applying for concurrent study in a second course, the two courses must be considered compatible by the relevant faculties to ensure they do not substantially overlap in structure and content, and that they do not already exist as a combined course. Where the two courses have majors or specialisations in common, students may be permitted to enrol in the courses concurrently but must complete a different major or specialisation in each course.

(58) Applications for concurrent study by first-year students are unlikely to be approved, as applicants must have demonstrated they are capable of the additional demands of such study.

(59) International students studying on an Australian student visa will only be considered for concurrent enrolment if they can complete their combined studies within the same duration of time as stated on the Confirmation of Enrolment (COE) for their principal course.

(60) Where a student is successful in their application for admission to concurrent study, they are still subject to the enrolment requirements and study load restrictions that apply to all students, as defined in the Enrolment and Fees Policy and Procedure.

(61) The Credit Policy states the limits and requirements of how credit can be applied for all students, including those enrolled in concurrent study.

Applicants with failed results

(62) Applicants must wait 12 months from the end-date of the most recent failed subject before their application will be considered if they have:

- a. failed more than half of the subjects (measured by the credit points weighting of the subjects) that they have taken at another tertiary institution, or
- b. been excluded from another tertiary institution for unsatisfactory academic progress.

(63) To be eligible for admission, they must demonstrate they have addressed the reasons they failed subjects previously and now have a better prospect of success in their studies.

Applicants subject to exclusion for unsatisfactory progress or misconduct

(64) An applicant who has been excluded from a course at this University on the grounds of unsatisfactory academic progress or misconduct will not be considered for admission into that course before the period of exclusion has expired. For further information about procedures relating to misconduct and academic progress, students should refer to the Student Misconduct Rule and the Assessment - Academic Progress Procedure.

(65) Applicants who wish to return to study following a period of exclusion for academic progress or misconduct must submit a new application for admission in the same way as any other applicant, however, they must also provide evidence that the circumstances that impaired their academic progress no longer apply and/or they have taken action during their exclusion to improve their performance.

(66) These applications will be referred to the relevant faculty for assessment before being processed by the relevant Admissions Office. The delegated faculty decision-maker, such as the Course Director, may:

- a. approve a guaranteed offer of a place in the course in the next intake,
- b. arrange for the application to be considered in competition with other applicants, by the normal process,
- c. deny the applicant admission if not satisfied by their evidence that they will perform better, or
- d. apply an intervention strategy to assist the student on their return to studies.

(67) A student excluded from a course in which they are undertaking a specialisation cannot apply to transfer to another specialisation in the same course until the period of exclusion finishes.

(68) Domestic and non-resident students excluded from a course, but who have not been excluded entirely from study at the University, may choose to submit an application for admission to another course in a discipline which they have not been excluded from. These applicants must provide evidence that the circumstances that impaired their academic progress will not affect their performance in the new course.

(69) Where the Department of Home Affairs cancels an international student's Australian student visa for unsatisfactory academic progress or breach of course duration conditions, the student cannot be admitted to any on campus study in a course within Australia for at least two years after the end of the last teaching period in which the student was enrolled.

(70) A student who is admitted back into a course after being excluded from it, who wishes to complete any assessment task in a subject in which they were granted a grade pending (GP) before their exclusion, must enrol in the subject again and pay any fees for this enrolment. See the Assessment Policy for more information about extensions and GP grades.

Readmission by reinstatement of enrolment

(71) A student may only apply for readmission to have their recent enrolment reinstated where they withdrew from their course less than a maximum of 12 months before the start date of the teaching period in which they wish to resume study.

(72) Students may apply for readmission by reinstatement of their course enrolment by using the online readmission form for such requests, which are processed by Student Administration in consultation with the Course Director after an initial assessment by the relevant Admissions Office.

(73) For a course to be eligible for readmission by reinstatement of enrolment for students who have recently withdrawn from it within the past 12 months, it must not:

- a. have any changes to its entry requirements since the withdrawal,
- b. have suspended or discontinued intakes,
- c. be full, or
- d. require competitive assessment of admission applications.

(74) Where the course entry requirements have changed, or the student was not making satisfactory academic progress, the relevant Course Director will assess the application for readmission and decide whether or not to approve the reinstatement of enrolment in the course.

Course transfers

(75) When transferring between courses, students must provide their unique student identifier (USI) to the University before the first census date of their new course enrolment.

(76) Some courses do not permit admission via course transfer, but students may still apply for entry into these courses by submitting a standard new application for admission. A list of courses that are not eligible for transfer is available for current students online.

(77) Students who apply for a course transfer are confirming that they do not wish to graduate from their current course enrolment, if their transfer application is successful and they are approved for admission into the new course.

(78) International students studying in Australia on a student visa are not eligible to change their course via a course transfer. However, they may submit a standard new application for admission if they want to change to a different course, which will be assessed against the same admissions entry criteria as a course transfer. The only exception to this rule is where a current international student is applying for the honours stream of an integrated honours course.

Transfer between coursework courses

(79) Where eligible, currently enrolled students may apply for a transfer:

- a. between two undergraduate courses, or

b. between two postgraduate courses.

(80) Course transfer applications (and any related credit applications) are processed by Student Administration after being assessed by the Course Director, Associate Dean (Academic) or Executive Dean, in accordance with the delegations and criteria approved under the authority of Academic Senate.

(81) To be eligible to apply for a course transfer, each student must:

- a. be a domestic student or be a non-resident student (not studying in Australia on a student visa),
- b. have an active course enrolment status,
- c. not be in their first teaching period of study in the course,
- d. not be eligible to graduate from their current course,
- e. not be requesting a transfer between an undergraduate course and a postgraduate course (or vice versa), and
- f. not be seeking to transfer from a full fee place (FFP) to a Commonwealth-supported place (CSP). See the Enrolment and Fees Policy and Procedure for more information about FFP and CSP fee places.

(82) Currently enrolled students who wish to apply for a course transfer must submit their application the start of the first teaching period they want to transfer into. Applications for course transfer received after this date will be processed for the next available intake teaching period for that course. However, if the application is not approved before the census date of the requested starting teaching period, the transfer will not commence until the following teaching period, or when an intake is next available for that course.

(83) Where a student's transfer is approved for a course in which they are seeking a Commonwealth supported place (CSP) and/or HECS-HELP/FEE-HELP assistance for their fees, they must complete and submit a new Commonwealth Assistance Form (CAF) before the first census date of enrolment in their new course. This CAF must include their unique student identifier (USI) and tax file number (TFN). See the Enrolment and Fees Policy and Enrolment and Fees Procedure for more information about the CAF, CSPs, HECS-HELP, and FEE-HELP.

(84) If a course transfer is conditionally approved by the faculty and the student needs to meet specific requirements before they will be eligible for the new course, the transfer will not be processed until evidence is provided that the student meets the required conditions. These conditions may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- a. successfully completing their enrolment in the current teaching period,
- b. successfully completing a specific subject,
- c. achieving a specific GPA (grade point average), or
- d. achieving a specific grade in a specific subject.

(85) Once the University has evidence that the required conditions have been met, the course transfer will be approved and processed for the next available intake teaching period.

Transfer between higher degree by research (HDR) courses

(86) Candidates enrolled in a higher degree by research (HDR) course may apply in writing to the Office of Research Services and Graduate Studies if they wish to transfer to another higher degree by research course.

(87) Candidates enrolled in a Doctor of Philosophy are not eligible for a course transfer if their candidature is by prior publication.

(88) The Dean, Graduate Studies decides these applications on the recommendation of the relevant Sub Dean (Graduate Studies). Transfer may be approved with or without remission of time.

(89) Applications for transfer from a Master by Research course to a Doctor of Philosophy course must be submitted and approved at least six months before the deadline for thesis submission.

(90) Other applications for transfer between HDR courses may be submitted at any time for assessment in accordance with the Higher Degree by Research Policy.

HDR students transferring between full-time and part-time study

(91) The Higher Degree by Research Procedure states requirements for HDR students in relation to:

- a. full-time and part-time candidature, and
- b. the process for transferring between these modes of candidature.

Equity and access schemes

(92) The Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic) determines which courses are available for admission through the University's entry programs, access schemes, and admission pathways each year, in consultation with the Executive Deans of each faculty.

(93) A list of the eligible courses for each entry program and access scheme is provided online for prospective students, on the study web page.

(94) The University may place a cap or withdraw courses from admission through these access schemes for a particular intake depending on current student numbers and the availability of places each year.

Guaranteed entry programs

Connections - First Nations Entry Program

(95) Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander applicants who may not yet met the necessary entry requirements for admission to undergraduate study may apply for entry into the Connections - First Nations Entry Program through the online application process.

(96) Applicants must either be a mature age student, have completed high school, or be in their final year of high school to be eligible apply for this program. Any offers made to high school students under this program will be conditional on completing Year 12 before commencing University study.

(97) Successful completion of this five-day entry program results in guaranteed entry to a broad range of eligible undergraduate courses listed online, although some may require additional course-specific tasks and entry requirements, such as an interview or portfolio submission.

Experience Matters Entry Program (Defence force personnel)

(98) The Experience matters entry program is for available for applicants with Australian Defence Force (including Reserves) experience without an ATAR to use as the basis of admission to undergraduate study. The University recognises the military ranking, training, experience, and qualifications of current and former Australian Defence Force (ADF) personnel and uses this to calculate an equivalent ATAR selection rank.

(99) Applicants may apply for undergraduate study directly to the University under this program by using the standard online application form where they:

- a. are current or former members of the ADF, and
- b. are applying on the basis of extensive defence service experience and any training for their transition to employment provided by their defence force.

Early offer schemes

UAC School Recommendation Scheme (SRS)

(100) The University Admission Centre \(UAC\) Schools Recommendation Scheme \(SRS\) is available for domestic applicants who are high school students and wish to apply for an early offer of a place before their final Higher School Certificate (HSC) or equivalent results are known, on the basis of:

- a. their senior high school academic record, and
- b. a satisfactory recommendation from their school.

(101) Applicants must apply for this scheme and for their intended course through the University Admission Centre \(UAC\) Schools Recommendation Scheme program.

(102) Many early offers under this scheme are conditional on applicants meeting:

- a. the relevant entry requirements outlined in the Admissions - Entry Requirements \(Coursework\) Procedure, and
- b. any additional course-specific admission requirements that may apply, where such requirements are published in the online course brochure for their particular course.

(103) Courses may be excluded from participation in the UAC School Recommendation Scheme where:

- a. admission is based on factors other than a school-leaver's performance in the Higher School Certificate (HSC) or Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE), or
- b. as decided by the Executive Dean of the relevant faculty.

(104) Faculties will recommend courses to the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic) for inclusion in this scheme for the following year's intake. Some courses may have limited quota available for admission via the UAC Schools Recommendation Scheme.

Charles Sturt Advantage

(105) The Charles Sturt Advantage early offer scheme is intended to supplement applicants' scores in previous study with an assessment of their resilience, empathy, initiative and writing skills.

(106) Applicants will apply online for the scheme by the deadline stated on the University's website and will complete a writing task as part of the application.

(107) The relevant Admissions Office will process the applications and calculate a predicted ATAR on the basis of their Year 11 results.

(108) Applicants are assessed on the basis of their predicted ATAR, against the published ATAR cut off for particular courses. Course Directors may choose to take an applicant's soft skills assessment result into account when deciding whether or not to make an offer to an applicant.

(109) Faculties will recommend courses to the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic) for inclusion in this scheme for the following year's intake. Some courses may have limited quota available for admission via the Charles Sturt Advantage offer scheme.

Selection rank adjustments

(110) Domestic applicants applying for undergraduate study on the basis of ATAR or equivalent may be eligible for adjustments to their assessed admissions selection rank for one or more of the following factors:

- a. regional location,
- b. subjects completed in pre-university study, where these are identified as eligible for specific courses, and
- c. equity, through special consideration for admission due to disadvantage to offset factors that have impacted high school education and preparation for university study.

(111) Faculties will recommend courses to the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic) for inclusion in this scheme for the following year's intake. Some courses may have limited quota available for admission via selection rank adjustments.

Maximum adjustment

(112) The maximum total adjustment that can be applied to each applicant's admissions selection rank is capped at 12 equivalent ATAR points for any combination of factors including: special admissions consideration, regional location, and adjustments for eligible subjects completed in pre-tertiary study.

Location adjustment

(113) Applicants for on campus undergraduate study will receive a location adjustment of 5 equivalent ATAR points to their admission selection rank automatically (without needing to apply for it) if they:

- a. are completing or recently completed Year 12 in a high school or TAFE college in a regional or remote area, or
- b. are a non-Year 12 applicant and live in a regional or remote area.

Subject adjustments

(114) An applicant for an undergraduate course will receive a subject adjustment of up to 10 equivalent ATAR points to their admissions selection rank automatically (without needing to apply for it) if they:

- a. are applying through the University Admissions Centre \(UAC\),

Glossary Terms and Definitions

"Elite athlete or performer" - includes anyone who has been registered by the University as an elite athlete, pre-elite athlete, elite sports support person or elite performer, which are defined as follows: Elite athlete - a person competing at the highest level of their sport, either as a national representative or as a professional sports person. To be considered an elite athlete, a person will normally have been recognised as such by a national sporting body or professional sports organisation. Pre-elite athlete - a person who has been recognised by a regional academy or state or national sporting organisation for their potential to attain high honours in their sport, and has been placed in the academy's or organisation's program to develop this potential. Elite sports support person - a referee, coach, official or someone in another support role, working at the national representative level of a sport or in a professional sports organisation, with travel and training commitments similar to those of an elite athlete. "Articulated set of courses" - means a sequence of courses in which the subjects required for the earlier course(s) in the sequence are a subset of the subjects required for the later course(s). The set of courses may have one of the following: A single entry point, where students are admitted to the highest course in the sequence but may apply to graduate as they meet the requirements for a lower award in the sequence (for example, all students must enrol in a masters level course but may apply to graduate with a graduate certificate or graduate diploma). Multiple entry points, where students can be admitted to, and complete separately, more than one course in the set (for example, they may enrol in a graduate certificate, graduate diploma or masters level course, and graduate with that award).
