Council member honorarium and other benefits

Honorarium

(4) Eligible members of the Council may be paid an honorarium in recognition of the following:

- a. The commitment by members of their time to discharging their governance and compliance obligations in a complex and changing higher education environment, including preparation for, and attendance at, meetings of the Council and committees of the Council.
- b. The time commitment required of members to participate in stakeholder engagement on behalf of the University including attendance at graduations, alumni events, scholarship ceremonies and meetings with key stakeholders, networking on behalf of the University and participation in other forms of stakeholder engagement.
- c. To meet out of pocket and other costs incurred by members in attending to their duties such as communications charges, payment of professional memberships, travel, meals and other expenses (but not including approved official air or fleet/private car travel and accommodation in association with meetings or events which will be paid for by the University).

Principles

(5) In deciding on the appropriate level of honorarium for members, the Council shall take into account the following principles:

- a. While the University engages in a limited range of commercial activities in support of public purpose, it is principally a public not-for-profit corporation established for the purpose of promoting free intellectual inquiry, higher education opportunity for students, regional development and the conduct of research.
- b. The level of the honorarium should be sufficient to appropriately acknowledge the time and expense incurred by members in the discharge of their duties, but should not be excessive reflecting the nature of the University as a 'public good' institution.

- c. The application of the member's unique skills, qualifications and experience represents a personal contribution by members to the public good functions of the University and the advancement of higher education and the University's regions, and should not be taken into account in determining the level of honorarium paid to members.
- d. The level of the honorarium should be based on an agreed objective standard for comparable public sector boards (preferably consistent with the norms of the higher education sector).
- e. An honorarium is a personal payment in recognition of the time and cost incurred by members and therefore may only be paid to a member and not to a company, trust or other entity.
- f. The level of the honorarium shall not be linked in any way to the performance of the member or of the University.

Eligibility

Members

(6) All members are expected to contribute equally and conscientiously to all meetings of the Council, participate as members of committees and to act for the University in engagement with stakeholders.

(7) All eligible members are entitled to receive an honorarium.

(8) An eligible member is a member of the Council, excluding the following:

- a. A member who is already remunerated by the University and accepts membership of the Council as part of their employment.
- b. A member who is an ex officio member of the Council under the CSU Act.
- c. A member who occupies an office of profit under the Crown and their membership of the Council constituted public service in accordance with the terms of their position.

Arrangements for non ex officio members that are employees

(9) Where a member is elected as a staff member of the Council, the faculty or division in which the member is employed should receive an amount equivalent to the base level of honorarium for that member to acknowledge the time and cost the faculty or division will incur to allow the member to properly discharge their duties.

Additional payment for officeholders

(10) Officeholders (e.g. Chancellor, Deputy Chancellor, committee chairs (not including the Chair, Academic Senate who is an employee)) will receive an additional reasonable amount as set out in Schedule 1 in recognition of the additional time those members are required to contribute to attending meetings and other forms of stakeholder engagement, and the additional costs incurred by those members in discharging their duties.

Non-Council members of committees

(11) Members of committees that are not also members of the Council will receive an amount as set out in Schedule 1 to acknowledge their time commitment and costs in attending to their duties. This amount is payable once only regardless of the number of committees on which the non-Council member sits.

Part-time staff members of the Council

(12) Where a member is a part-time member of the staff of the University or a controlled entity of the University, the Vice-Chancellor will make arrangement for the hours of the employee to be adjusted by a maximum of an additional two hours per week to allow the member to attend to their Council duties. The member will not be entitled to receive an honorarium.

Members should provide the University with a valid tax file number for this purpose.

(18) Under the Superannuation Guarantee \(Administration\) Act 1992 all employers are required from 1 July 1992 to provide a minimum level of superannuation for all recipients of remuneration who earn more than the minimum per month prescribed by that Act. The University will contribute to superannuation for each member up to the minimum level of superannuation required by the Act where it is required by law to do so. A superannuation benefit is additional to the honorarium payable to members and will only be paid where the University has a legal obligation to do so. Where a member is not eligible for a superannuation payment, the member shall not be entitled to any other payment or increase in their honorarium in lieu of superannuation or any other benefit or allowance. Members must supply the University a valid superannuation account for this purpose.

No honorarium entitlement for other functions

(19) Where a member is also a member of an advisory board, controlled entity board or is otherwise engaged in an official capacity with the University, the honorarium is deemed to be the total benefit payable to the member without requirement for further payment for assumption of any additional roles or responsibilities.

Council computer entitlement

(20) Members of Council are entitled to have access to a University computer account, email address and iPad (or equivalent mobile device as determined by the University Secretary) to access Council agenda, minutes, resources and notices for the duration of their term on the Council. To ensure that there are sufficient funds available to meet current and future commitments, and that the needs of all Council members can be met, the University Secretary must approve all expenses in advance. All air travel for members will be booked by the Governance Unit with the standard determined by the University Secretary and the Travel Policy. Any adjustments in the honorarium model must be based on the revised principles; are subject to the available budget; and may not be linked to adjustments in the remuneration model for executive or other officers of the University.
